Summer Symposium 2014
The Music for All Summer Symposium Orchestra Division is the ultimate string camp! Students receive daily instruction in an orchestra setting and develop skills and musicianship while working on diverse styles, from classical and jazz to pop and world music. Players of all levels of experience are challenged to learn. At the same time, students have fun building friendships with string players from across the country. They participate in master classes, ensemble rehearsals, sectionals and feature sessions. This immersive curriculum gives students the opportunity to work with guest artists whose insight and experience exemplify musical excellence. Past artists-in-residence include: Nick Kendall, Time for Three, Barrage, the Ahn Trio and PROJECT Trio.

Music for All is proud to announce that Christian Howes, Yamaha Performing Artist, will be a part of the 2014 Music for All Summer Symposium, presented by Yamaha. Christian offers string players an opportunity to study improvisation, composition, and styles outside the realm of classical music.

“As a jazz violinist, [Christian Howes] has no peer.”
— Michael Bailey, All About Jazz

“Sharing the stage with Christian Howes will make students feel like rock stars for a night!”
— Douglas Droste, Director of Orchestras, Ball State University Coordinator, Orchestra Division, Music for All Summer Symposium

CONCERTS & EVENTS
One thing that sets the MFA Summer Symposium apart from any other camp is the series of evening concerts and events, offering a variety of musical and performance genres from world-class acts each night. The 2014 evening concert series includes:

• Yamaha Young Performing Artists – featuring outstanding young musicians
• Atlantic Brass Quintet
• Big Bad Voodoo Daddy
• Christian Howes and Southern Exposure, presented by Yamaha
• Drum Corps International Central Indiana — featuring top drum and bugle corps (including the 2013 DCI World Champion Carolina Crown, MFA Summer Symposium corps-in-residence)

WHAT SETS THE MFA SUMMER SYMPOSIUM APART?
• Challenging curriculum for all levels
• Nationally-recognized faculty: the Orchestra division is taught by string professionals who promote the best in string education
• Leadership: the theme that runs throughout the symposium, helping build strong student leaders as well as skilled musicians
• Concerts and events every night
• A safe, away-from-home “collegiate” experience in the premier facilities of Ball State University

The MFA Summer Symposium features some of the newest and most recently renovated residence halls on the beautiful Ball State University campus. Housing facilities feature state-of-the art technology and first-class amenities. Dining facilities offer a wide variety of food choices and service styles. BSU’s culinary-trained chefs put a lot of time into preparing the healthiest and tastiest food possible.

WHAT DO STUDENTS SAY THEY GAIN FROM THEIR PARTICIPATION?
84% Improved musical or performance technique
91% Developed stronger leadership skills
84% Improved team-building and collaborative skills
88% Increased eagerness to work harder at music or performance
89% Established friendships with other students
(More than 1,000 high school performers together from across the country)

SCHOLARSHIPS
MFA Summer Symposium’s efforts to create, provide and expand positively life-changing experiences include awarding a number of scholarships each year. For more information about MFA’s scholarships contact the MFA Development Department at 317-636-2263 or development@musicforall.org.

LEADERSHIP WEEKEND EXPERIENCE
June 21-23, 2014

The Leadership Weekend Experience kicks off the Music for All Summer Symposium. A two-day, non-stop, interactive, leadership learning lab you just can’t get anywhere else. Students will learn how to inspire and maintain the motivation in themselves and others through a series of experiences that developmentally dovetail the messages and the methods of constructive servant leadership.

Come for the weekend and stay for the week! By attending the Leadership Weekend Experience with the Summer Symposium, you could save some travel hassles and costs. Since our Leadership Weekend starts on Saturday, it might make travel plans easier and more cost effective. Simplify your scheduling by planning a Saturday-to-Saturday week of camp for the complete Music for All Summer Symposium, June 21-28, 2014.

A Supportive Experience

The non-competitive atmosphere of the Orchestra America National Festival provides a place for growth, cooperative encouragement and mutual respect among music programs, students, parents, boosters and administrators.

- Directors select their own programs; there is no required repertoire. There are no ratings or rankings so directors and their ensembles are free to stretch themselves, reach for new heights and strive for innovation, growth and excellence, instead of focusing on a rating or placing.
- Participating students experience an atmosphere of mutual respect while enjoying concerts from other outstanding ensembles. The Festival’s dress code and standards of conduct enhance the world-class atmosphere of the Festival.
- Ensembles that perform at the Festival are recognized as being among the finest in the nation. Participation is a “credential” worth having. The preparation process itself for the Festival can have a positive effect on your music program.

Presented in Cooperation with the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra

Orchestra concerts are in Hilbert Circle Theatre, the beautiful home of the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra. Master classes are presented by leading applied faculty and artists, including members of the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra.

It was amazing to have a festival where the students and myself were able to have the opportunity to have four experts offer comments and feedback verbally on stage, verbally via recording, and also by sheet. It was also helpful to have someone comment on my conducting and give insight into what I’m doing as a conductor. That was unique to this festival and helpful in my career as a teacher/conductor.

The Honor Orchestra of America provides a truly positively life-changing experience for outstanding string players, orchestral winds and percussion.

“Honor Orchestra of America members meet and perform with terrific young string players from across the U.S. playing major orchestral repertoire at a very high level.

Every moment has been a miracle of growth, artistic evolution, and purpose. Extraordinary beauty and the joining together, making a family of an army of strangers!

Members return to their programs with a quiver full of ideas and techniques about how to play in orchestra, how to play music in general, and, not least, how to flourish as a human spirit. The returning student comes home as a missionary of musical excellence and compassion, importing into the home program the very musical and human values which define the Honor Orchestra.”

— Larry J. Livingston, Chair, Conducting Department, Thornton School of Music, University of Southern California, Music Director, Honor Orchestra of America

“Members of the Honor Orchestra of America join an elite club of people who change the world through the power and joy of music. It’s a memorable experience from the first downbeat of the full orchestra rehearsal — their first time to play together.

Students return from the honor orchestra with the gift of experiencing new musical opportunities as well as meeting young people from all over the world. The student returns a stronger musician and a stronger light in the ensemble they return to helping to influence those who have yet to have such an experience.”

— Brian Worsdale, Artistic Director and Conductor French Woods Festival of the Performing Arts Orchestra Program Coordinator, Manager, Honor Orchestra of America

The staff of MFA went above and beyond to make the students comfortable and supported. The festival supports the students and allows for them to be the stars of the show! Even having the students dress professionally at all times helped set the mood for learning and interacting with other students around the country as well as the clinicians and conductors.

By far the most well run, organized, and educational experience I have experienced with my students.

— Brian Worsdale, Artistic Director and Conductor French Woods Festival of the Performing Arts Orchestra Program Coordinator, Manager, Honor Orchestra of America

The 2015 Honor Orchestra of America will perform shared concerts with the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra, March 13 and 14.
Music for All knows that starting students on their instruments early is crucial to positive experiences with their high school orchestras and bands down the road.

Scott Lang and Music for All are attempting to enroll 350,000 new elementary students in band through their nationwide campaign for elementary schools, Be Part of the Band. This free resource provides high quality materials for teachers, students, parents, and administrators to help better explain the “elementary music experience” and its importance in the overall educational process. The materials are available in both hard copy and digital format via the website, www.bepartoftheband.com.

Included in this dual-disc set are seven high quality, high definition videos and eighteen written documents that will help all parents and students better understand the different types of instruments and the musical opportunities they provide.

In addition to the thousands of web visitors and early adopters, sponsors and music education groups from eight states (AR, CA, IN, MN, NV, NE, OK, and UT) have purchased materials for their entire state!

Cutbacks in education and high stakes testing have pressured schools to remove the very programs that create engaged and enthusiastic learners. Be Part of the Band, Elementary Style aims to raise both awareness and enrollment for music programs throughout our nation and increase achievement along the way.

“Music education is the perfect storm of learning. It combines the artistic and the athletic, the aesthetic and academic, and challenges students to achieve as individuals in a group setting. Successful schools have successful music programs and Be Part of the Band, Elementary Style is going to give educators the tools to bring music back to our public schools.”

— Scott Lang, music educator and advocate
