INSIDE:

Music for All Summer Symposium
Middle School Teacher Academy

Middle School National Music Festival, part of the Music for All National Festival, presented by Yamaha
The Summer Symposium Middle School/Young Teacher Academy is designed to deliver a curriculum that will arm middle school teachers and young music educators with the tools they need to provide their students with a positively life-changing experience. The typical model for middle schools in America is a three-year program (6th, 7th and 8th grade). Unfortunately, three years is also the typical career-span for young music educators. Most recent studies show that America is on the verge of a major shortage of qualified music educators. Through a progressive curriculum, the Middle School/Young Teacher Academy at the Summer Symposium will provide a "hands-on" education that will prepare young teachers to thrive, not just survive!

Music for All offers an experience that will be realistic and taught by experienced and successful practitioners from a range of programs and settings, including small school, low budget, urban and rural situations.

In addition to the Middle School/Young Teacher curriculum, your experience includes:

• Summer Symposium general curriculum
• World-class concerts and musical experiences
• Networking with the finest music educators in the country
• Professional development certification from MFA
• Opportunity to register for Graduate Credit through Ball State University

Who Should Attend?

• Experienced middle school teachers looking for a fresh approach and new ideas
• Recent graduates and young teachers
• High school teachers looking to create a unified philosophy with their feeder program

In a nutshell, we will fill the gap to teach you what you didn't learn in college!

The "Ensemble" sessions will focus on the challenges that accompany the ensemble experience.

Sessions include “Maximizing the Middle School Experience”

This part of the curriculum will focus on both maximizing your student’s middle school experience, as well as helping you to prepare them for the journey to high school.

Control Your Own Experience • Customize your curriculum with choices focusing on a wide range of tracks and topics relevant to today’s band director in concert band, jazz, marching band, technology, conducting, rehearsal techniques, pedagogy, programming, planning and organization and more. The Middle School National Music Festival is part of the Music for All National Festival and an integral part of Music for All’s ongoing mission to create, provide and expand positively life-changing experiences through music for all. The 2013 Festival was held March 14-16 in Indianapolis with more than 30 middle school and high school ensembles performing.

The Middle School National Music Festival is a non-competitive national festival for outstanding middle school concert bands. The festival is a celebration of musical excellence, combining world-class performance and evaluation opportunities with an exhilarating atmosphere of camaraderie in music.

“Performing for music’s sake, without the contest and rating atmosphere, is valuable,” said Mark Gurgel, Director of the Kealing Middle School Wind Ensemble from Austin, TX. “Listening to other wonderful young musicians from all over the country was a highlight for my students, as was the opportunity to hear from and work with some of the greatest musicians and teachers around.”

Music for All puts students first. “Everything was positive and nurturing,” said Gurgel. “Everything was about the kids and making them feel good about themselves and what they do when they make music.”

“Getting to perform in such a wonderful hall was a highlight, as was meeting Mrs. Cheryl Floyd and Dr. Arnold Gabriel, two of my favorite superstars in the band ‘biz,’” said Kim Bain, Director of Bands, Pizitz Middle School in Vestavia Hills, Alabama, who had two concert bands perform. “Our clinic with Franz Krager was excellent, as was the opportunity to hear so many outstanding concerts.”

Social events, like the middle school student social and dance at the NCAA headquarters in Indianapolis offered students the chance to meet their peers from across the country. “A parent told me he thought the whole experience had the feel of some kind of ‘Band Olympics,’” said Bain.

“The best part of the Festival for me, as a teacher, is the level of positive support provided,” said Leah Seng, Assistant Band Director at Pizitz Middle School in Vestavia Hills, Alabama. “On the rehearsal and performance days, our every need was anticipated and met. After the performance, it was invaluable to have time to talk with our best-of-the-best evaluators and get feedback and ideas to continue improving our teaching.”

“Every aspect of it is designed with the student’s best interest in mind,” said Seng. “The facilities, the evaluators, the clinicians, the concerts – everything is the best. It is three days of immersion in a culture of commitment to excellence!”

“This is an experience like no other,” said Seng. “The process of preparing for the festival and the event itself transformed our 7th and 8th grade students into young musicians who are truly invested in the process of improving and making music at the highest possible level.”

“I have been teaching for 24 years, and this by far has been the highlight of my career,” said Bain. “Everything was highly organized. Every person I dealt with was extremely courteous and professional. The performance experience was awesome. From the tremendous acoustics of the hall to the adjudicators who were spot on with their comments, the experience was outstanding.”

A non-competitive, supportive experience

The Music for All National Festival will be hosted at the Marriott Place Indianapolis, featuring the beautiful JW Marriott and three additional Marriott properties. Marriott Place Indianapolis is located in downtown Indianapolis and is surrounded by numerous cultural and recreational attractions.

Music for All’s vision is to be a catalyst to ensure that every child across America has access and opportunity to participate in active music making in his or her scholastic environment. We use our resources to provide national programs that recognize and support music students’ performance and success. We offer music educator training and professional development. We also deliver tools and resources to participants and their communities in order to assist them in supporting music education by promoting awareness of music’s impact on student growth and achievement.

Requirements for Application

All auditioning ensembles receive recorded and written critique from a panel of esteemed music educators on the selection/evaluation committee. The listening is “blind”—ensembles are not identified to evaluators in the listening process. Evaluators then recommend the ensembles that demonstrate an exemplary level of excellence to perform at the Festival.

Application consists of the completed Application Form submitted with the audition CD and application fee. Specific requirements for application audition recording are included on the Requirements for Application page in this packet. The application fee is $250 per ensemble, with reduced application fees for additional ensembles applying from the same school.

2014 Ensemble Application Deadline: June 5, 2013

This was absolutely a life-changing experience for not only my students, but also for our band parents, administrators, and me. My students came back with a whole new perspective of music and the many possibilities it holds.

We invite you to join us for the Bands of America Championships this fall and bring your students for an memorable, exciting and fun field trip.

Research suggests that students are more motivated to do a task when it taps into at least one of four key factors, two of which are “when they’re interested in the task or see its value and when doing the task makes them feel more related to a peer group or someone they admire.” (From The Power to Motivate, article by Jack Jennings, Founder, Center on Education Policy.)

Bringing your band students to experience a Bands of America Championship this fall taps into both of these key factors. Your students will enjoy performances by outstanding marching bands from across the region and country, providing motivation and fun!
